   i. Mayor Marx stated that President Stork, President Armstrong, and Mayor Marx created the working group called the Community Civility Task Force co-chaired by Sandee McLaughlin & Keith Humphrey. Katie stated that this task force will move the city and community in a positive direction. The vision is to have a community in which year-round residents and students actively collaborate to build community and communicate in an environment that fosters mutual respect and understanding. The goal is to enhance the quality of life for all residents, with particular emphasis on building positive relations between residential and student-aged neighbors through a cultural shift in behaviors. The group was given 6 tasks for short term actions with long range Objectives. Objectives include 1) define short-term actions that could be implemented to enhance quality of life for all residents particularly associated in the timeframe around the opening of the Cal Poly and Cuesta campuses at the beginning of the school year 2) Define stakeholders’ needs and success 3) Identify University/City best practices; 4) Review enforcement best practices 5) Engage stakeholders: Review current educational and information efforts and 6) Prepare for sustained engagement to achieve desired vision and goal.

b. SCLC Question & Answer Update – Jason Colombini
   i. Jason stated SCLC seems to be the arena for sharing information. He asked members if we are sharing enough information or what else would you like to hear more of. Recommendations included sharing information on who you call for different needs, making connections by listening; talk about what impacts the group not things that are not pertinent. Katie stated that benefits from a demographic perspective would give the opportunity to hear from students and learn how to communicate in terms of messages. Other suggestions included adding 20 minutes of open forum to hear about relationships, concerns, or community neighborhoods, better publicizing SCLC with a campaign, and adding new members to include housing or property managers. The consensus of the group believed that SCLC serves as an open forum for sharing information.
